The Age of Legend, 2,000 years after the fall of the Elden Kingdom, has seen the rise of the Elden Ring. It is a powerful organization that has seized control of the lands between the former Elden kingdom and others. The world is paralyzed by the influence of the Elden Ring. When the world finally mustered enough strength to restore the dead to life, the evil that threatens was not the Elden Ring, but the Shadow. There are those called Tarnished, those who have committed countless evils against the world, and those who were once the most powerful of the Elden ring. Holding a sword similar to the one that split the world, Tarnished are allowed to roam the lands of the Elden ring freely. They are the elite of the land, a special breed who possessed a legacy to carry forward and protect the world. Somewhere along the way, a red-armored warrior has appeared. Armed with a sword that has a name like a legend and the blood of the world, his goal is to smite the Tarnished and bring chaos to the lands of the Elden Ring. You are Tarnished, have committed heinous sins, and taken the oath to protect the world. In order to defeat the evil hidden within, you must gather an army. A vast army. Thousands of people live, fight, and die on the battlefield. The battlefield is a symbol of our common world. The Elden Ring dreams of a world where there are no wars or bloodshed. However, we desire to create an ideal world, a world where peace has been made. There is one way to make this dream a reality. The Elden Ring and the Tarnished will stand side by side to create a world where neither the Elden Ring nor the Shadow exists. ♦ PREORDER NOW! ♦ Introducing the PREORDER! Doug's Review of Epstein's Ghost (Escape from Absurdity #3) (2.5 Stars) by John McKenzie Read by Jason Dunstan 1 was not satisfied 4 Nov 2008 AMAZING!! I have a friend who likes to play word games with me. He's seen this film and we've been enjoying his descriptions/analysis and he thinks it might be one of the greatest films of all time.
