The idea is to update info of a model (a user entity) which has 2 main attributes : Name and PhotoUrl which has a type of System.String. I have to update the model when i retrieve the info from a remote web service using JSON. I read several articles about WCF and ASP.Net and even have a working program using a web service to update a local store, but nothing regarding web service to update a model from a remote web service. The main issue with this project is that i'm not sure how can i associate the model to the view and how can i refresh the view by Members of an HIV-infected individual's family generally have different concerns from those of their partners. Inadequate counseling and support for persons at risk of infection are believed to negatively impact the uptake of HIV testing, prevention, and treatment. A program for routine HIV counseling and testing was implemented for all family members of HIV-infected adults on a voluntary basis in Kankole District, Eastern Province, Zambia. Nine hundred ninety-four (99.4%) of 1,002 family members attending routinely for HIV counseling and testing were counseled, and 42 (4.2%) were tested for HIV. The acceptance of HIV counseling and testing was 96.4%. More than half of tested family members were known to the patient (60.7%). Twenty-four (57.1%) persons with known HIV status tested HIV-positive, and 7 6d1f23a050
