How to add activation key to mind workstationQ: How to use str_replace with a comma to make it an array? I am stuck in a small problem which is - when i am doing a search and replace on the value of the textarea with a comma i.e., 12,13 But it is giving me only 12 and 13 not 12,13 When i click search and replace it becomes 12, when i use str_replace then it becomes 12,,13 I just want an array of 12,13 so that i can use explode() and parse it. How do i do it? A: First off, you don't need this: $textarea = "12,13"; $textarea = str_replace(',', ' ','g'); You'll end up with: 12,13 Instead, just use the 'replace' method in the string: $textarea = '12,13'; // $textarea has been changed to: // 12,13 $textarea = preg_replace('/^[^0-9,]','',$textarea); // $textarea has been changed to: // 12,13 The third method is a bit less intuitive, as it only changes the input string, and returns the new string. From looking at the docs, i think you might be better off just doing: $textarea = '12,13'; // $textarea has been changed to: // 12,13 $textarea = preg_replace('/^[^0-9,]','',$textarea); // $textarea has been changed to: // 6d1f23a050
